Bridget Thorsdottir is a seventeen-year-old girl living during the waning days of the Norse colony in Greenland in the year 1501. At the brink of an age of discovery, her colony has been taken over by a new bishop who turned the people's farms into a more lucrative fishing village. The lone voice of opposition in this sea of change is Bridget's own father, Thor, whose stubborn adherence to his farm makes it harder and harder for him to pay the rising taxes owed to the bishop. When Thor refuses to give up his ways and leave the family home, Bridget realizes that it is up to her to make the dangerous journey to the New World in order to establish a new life for herself and her family. Beyond the Grass Ocean

There are deep bays, and bold headlands, and wild rocks, and lofty cliffs, and wooded heights, and bare downs, and yellow sands full of the most minute and delicate shells, so delicate that it is surprising how they could have existed in the rough and boisterous ocean, and been cast up whole from the depths below. In one of those beautiful bays, many years ago, a large party was collected, on a bright afternoon in the early part of autumn. Among the party were persons of all ages, but most of them were young, and all were apparently very busy. Some were engaged in tending a fire over which a pot was boiling, and others were collecting drift-wood thrown up close under the cliff, with which to feed it.
