This guide for admission to NYU Stern has been revised for the 2014 application season! So you want to go to a great New York business school for your MBA? Then you probably want to try for NY Stern. Here are a few great things about this school:

1. Stern has exceptional resources and support for career changers through its full-time MBA
2. Stern has a part-time MBA program - the only one at a major bschool in the Northeast - Stern is centrally located downtown NYC, in Greenwich Village
3. Stern has a deliberate focus on teamwork and collaboration that permeates every aspect of the Stern culture, from the classroom to the clubs All this - plus of course a top-notch graduate business education - adds up to a distinctive school in one of the greatest cities on Earth. And, one with very competitive admissions! If you're serious about NYU, you need to take a fresh approach to their essays. With this SnarkStrategies Guide for the NYU Stern School of Business, revised for the 2014 MBA application, EssaySnark can show you how. We cover important considerations for the current set of essay questions, and discuss when to apply among NYU's four application rounds. We touch on the Stern waitlist and their rolling admissions. We also go into details like what GMAT scores and GPAs are considered competitive at this very selective school. NYU Stern is not an alternative to Columbia for a New York MBA; it's a fantastic school in its own right, and they are looking for great candidates. Learn how to present yourself in the best possible way with a little guidance from EssaySnark.

The Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth is an exceptional school - in an exceptionally beautiful location. And, it's exceptionally difficult to get in if you don't plan your MBA application with the right strategy in mind. This SnarkStrategies Guide has been newly revised and expanded for the 2014 application to the MBA program at Tuck School of Business. This guide covers the applicant-initiated interview process, Tuck Early Action, important aspects to consider for your letters of recommendation, and a complete and thorough discussion of the career goals and leadership essay questions that you'll be answering for the adcom's review. Tuck is a place where lasting relationships are formed. It's a place where you can get to know your professors - and no, that does not always happen at the big-city bschools. Tuck is a place where you have nothing else to do but what you came to bschool for: to learn. (And maybe to snowboard.) Get the best advantage possible through in-depth insights and actionable information and advice in this 2014 SnarkStrategies Guide for Tuck.

The Yale School of Management is in an interesting position in the MBA marketplace. They are reinventing themselves, and they are looking for students who are dynamic, resilient, and eager for change. A successful application to the SOM will showcase your track record as a professional who makes an impact. Wallflowers and the half-hearted need not apply. This SnarkStrategies Guide explains the Yale application process including:

- The elements that make up a strong essay for Yale on "influence" - Whether you can reuse your Yale essay for Harvard (or vice versa) - The best time to apply - The importance of the video questions

 EssaySnark offers an in-depth discussion of the type of person who will be a good fit to Yale - and who might not be. We talk through Dean Snyder's focus and give you insights about the application heard directly from the admissions team. And we make the brazen prediction that Yale is one to watch in the rankings in coming years.

Gah! What to do with the MIT "recommendation" essay question? And how should you handle their first essay about their "mission"? Both of these are non-trivial questions and we have devoted our longest-ever MBA application strategy guide to helping you work through a solid approach to dealing with them. What's critical to know is that career goals are surprisingly unimportant at MIT. To assess whether you'll be a high achiever in the future, MIT wants to hear about how you've been a high achiever in the past. Where have you made a contribution? As you might guess, it's easy to stumble on the Sloan app if you've been focusing on the career goals as part of your pitch to other schools. This one needs to be different. This SnarkStrategies Guide provides insights into the 2014-'15 MBA application for MIT Sloan, including:

- * How do they evaluate a candidate?
- * How much does the GMAT

matter? * When should you apply? * What's up with these two essays? EssaySnark never tells you what to write in your essays. You need to come up with the right stories - and the right presentation - on your own. What we will do is flesh out the guidelines that MIT has already provided, to help you structure your thinking. You'll also get advice on what makes for a good story, and what maybe should be avoided. Additional discussions of MIT and other top bschools can be found daily at essaysnark.com.

Is the Booth essay question supposed to be handled like Harvard's? Or like NYU's? Or maybe Stanford's? Or like no other school on the planet? For years, Chicago Booth has been asking applicants the same question that Harvard adopted last year - and now Chicago has gone all-in on that strategy. While the schools' questions may seem similar, your approach needs to be a quite different between them. Booth still cares about the goals, whereas HBS typically doesn't. What impact should that have on your Booth application strategy? If they didn't explicitly ask you to discuss your goals, is that something that still belongs in your Booth pitch? This SnarkStrategies Guide provides essential tips and insights into the 2014-'15 MBA application for Chicago Booth, including: * How competitive are they? * Does a reapplicant have a chance? * Is it better to do a presentation or write an essay for the last question? EssaySnark never tells you what to write in your pitch. You need to come up with the right stories - and the right presentation (or essay!) - on your own. What we will do is flesh out the guidelines that Booth has provided and repeat some wisdom about the application that we've heard them offer to candidates, as a way to help you structure your thinking. You'll get advice on what makes for a good topic for your presentation, and what maybe should be avoided, and we'll discuss a balance of content that you can aim for. Additional discussions of Chicago Booth and other top bschools can be found daily at essaysnark.com.

Say the name Marshall McLuhan and you think of the great discoverer's explorations of the media. But throughout his life, McLuhan never stopped reflecting profoundly on the nature of God and worship, and on the traditions of the Church. Often other intellectuals and artists would ask him incredulously, Are you really a Catholic? He would answer, Yes, I am a Catholic, the worst kind -- a convert, leaving them more baffled than before. Here, like a golden thread lining his public utterances on the media, are McLuhan's brilliant probes into the nature of conversion, the church's understanding of media, the shape of tomorrow's church, religion and youth, and the God-making machines of the modern world. This fascinating collection, gathered from his many and scattered remarks, essays, and other writings, shows the deeply Christian side of a man widely considered the most important thinker of our time, a man whose insights into media and culture have revolutionized the field of media study and the way we see the world.

Career goals matter a lot at Duke - but perhaps even more important, Fuqua wants to learn about who you are as a real person. All the schools say they want this, yet Duke is the one with the application that lets you present your real self. Once you get through the constraints of the difficult Duke career goals questions, you're likely to - gasp! - even enjoy yourself when writing out your Duke essays. Despite all that potential for fun, it's easy to stumble on the Fuqua app if you don't pay attention. Recycling an essay written for another school just won't cut it. These need to be written from scratch. This SnarkStrategies Guide provides essential tips and insights into the 2014-'15 application for the Duke Daytime MBA, including: Should you apply in Early Action? How much does the GMAT matter? Should you go to campus to interview? Which of the options for Essay 2 should you write? If you're reapplying, do you need 25 more Random Things? You'll need to make some important decisions with this application, on its own and in the context of your entire school strategy. And you'll need to do some rewriting! The tone you use matters as much as your messaging. Have fun with it, but take it seriously.
