Anna Vogel is a German-born American with a precious skill: she's a world-class expert in influence techniques. As World War Two rages in spring 1941, two other world-class influencers, Winston Churchill, Prime Minister of Great Britain, and Joseph Goebbels, Nazi Germany's Minister of Propaganda, realise for different reasons that they need Anna's help to protect their secrets and careers. Under simultaneous pressure from both leaders, one of whom, Goebbels, is also her employer, Anna suddenly wields extraordinary behind-the-scenes power. How to use it? With Churchill prepared to take any risk to find a surgeon who can save his wife's life and Goebbels prepared to use any tactic--except murder, which is out of the question--to prevent an uncontrollable Nazi leader from revealing damaging secrets to the British, Anna must make wrenching decisions. In order to protect her own secrets and ambitions, she will need to answer the toughest challenge any influence expert could face: influencing herself. Influencers is a psychological thriller set in the 20th-century. It's a work of fiction, but the influence techniques its characters unleash, including disinformation, manipulation, propaganda, coercion and, most effective of all, simply addressing people's most fundamental psychological needs, are daily practice in the 21st century. Author Ray Lancaster is British. He has been studying, testing and teaching influence techniques, albeit of a softer variety usually known as "communication", for three decades. His non-fiction book, Your Influencing Instincts, was published in 2019. Influencers is his first novel.

"The Cultural Revolution had transformed me into a devil," writes Zhai. In 1966, at age 15, she led a Red Guard brigade that tortured Chinese citizens branded counterrevolutionaries. She beat innocent people to death and had others exiled; her squad raided homes and murdered people. Now a professor of engineering in British Columbia, Zhai expresses remorse and guilt rather perfunctorily, and her cool confession is tinged with rationalizations. She blames the flourishing of her "evil, barbaric side" on her blind faith in Chairman Mao. Her fervor gave way to bitter disillusionment when she herself was banished to the countryside in 1969 to do three years of hard labor and be "re-educated" by peasants. This is a grisly account of how political brainwashing can induce converts to commit monstrous acts.
