I Can Do It. Yes I Can! May 15 2020 There is a secret in the book you are holding. The idea was planted in my mind eighteen years ago. As a children's ski instructor, I would often hear first-time students say, "I can't" when asked to move their skis in a certain way. It always struck me as strange their mind would default to the negative. I spent years working in the personal development industry. Many of the trainings and seminars gave attention and value to ways that help adults reprogram their subconscious. I decided to teach my kids what I learned, and you can too. Begin preprogramming your child's mind with these fun affirmations. The latest results from the field of neuroscience shows that upward of 95 percent of all your resources come from the subconscious. Look for the hidden symbols, play the game, and read this book often. The secret will be revealed...

As Louise discusses topics such as health, forgiveness, prosperity, creativity, relationships, job success, and self-esteem, you'll see that affirmations are solutions that will replace whatever problem you might have in a particular area. Can Do! The Story of the Seabees Jul 21 2023 Born in the hellish aftermath of Pearl Harbor, the Seabees began as barely armed civilians with no military training. They had an average age of 35. GI's would joke, "Never hit a Seabee, for his son might be a Marine." America's bulldozing, jungle-hacking, Jap-cracking Construction Battalion or the Seabees (C.B.'s) soon proved themselves miracle-construction-workers in seemingly impassable combat zones. Before World War 2, Marines were the ones to get their first, but the need for roads in the muddy battlefields of the Pacific meant that claim would pass to the Construction Battalion. Their early motto was "Can Do!"

We Can Do It Apr 25 2021 This book tells of the challenges faced by white and black school administrators, teachers, parents, and students as Alachua County, Florida, moved from segregated schools to a single, unitary school system. After Brown v. Board of Education, the South's separate white and black schools continued under lower court opinions, provided black students could choose to go to white schools. Not until 1968 did the NAACP Legal Defense Fund convince the Supreme Court to end dual school systems. Almost fifty years later, African Americans in Alachua County remain divided over that outcome. A unique study including extensive interviews, We Can Do It asks important questions, among them: How did both races, without precedent, work together to create desegregated schools? What conflicts arose, and how were they resolved (or not)? How was the community affected? And at a time when resegregation and persistent white-black achievement gaps continue to challenge public schools, what lessons can we learn from the generation that desegregated our schools?

You Can Do It Sep 18 2020 For anyone who needs reassurance—these poems provide an in-depth understanding of your intentions, dreams, and purpose in life. They also provide a fuel for the strength needed to get you through the tests we endure in life. A place where you can feel truly supported in the belief that a higher energy—the universe's guide—is looking after you. Read each poem daily to take your life to another level or all in one. I would like this book to help you be your very own cheerleader and to create a time for change in your thoughts that benefits you instead of prohibiting you in life. Embrace each poem to instil a positive view of yourself and an opportunity to reclaim your power. Following my first book of All of You Is Welcome Here, which was all around the topic of self-love, I felt a natural development in my writing to create poetry around empowerment and take your healing to another level. I merely want to provide an environment for you to believe in your full potential wholeheartedly and to become the best version of yourself. I want to provide and encourage a positive difference in your mental health through the medium of poetry.
