Now in its tenth edition, Contemporary Accounting: A Strategic Approach for Users is designed for one-semester introductory accounting courses at undergraduate or MBA level, for both accounting and non-accounting majors. The text has been updated throughout to strengthen the content for first-year students, and to integrate financial and management accounting. Associate Dean Phil Hancock (UWA) and Assistant Professor Peter Robinson (UWA) have worked together to add three new, online-only (MindTap) financial accounting chapters that bridge the gap between assumed and actual knowledge, and have redesigned the pedagogical features to make the text friendlier to first-year learners. It has also been appropriately updated for currency, including an extract from the Annual Report of Woolworths Limited for the year ending 30 June 2018 as an appendix. Premium online teaching and learning tools are available on the MindTap platform. Learn more about the online tools cengage.com.au/mindtap

This book explores two combined approaches (strategy and accounting) from a cross-disciplinary perspective in order to improve knowledge of value creation in various contexts. Existing studies on this topic have generally adopted a purely account-based or strategy-oriented approach to address this issue. However, this book draws upon a number of well-defined theoretical and empirical backgrounds and methodologies. Since the 1980s, many changes have occurred and companies have increasingly focused their strategies on value creation. Consequently, new strategic directions have emerged, especially for managerial accounting. Management accounting and alignment with strategy could thus improve performance. This book encourages further thought and reflection on these issues which should be pursued in the future as firms face new challenges associated with the acceleration of digital transformation.

Respected authorship and clarity of exposition have ensured that this remains one of the most widely prescribed and referenced management accounting texts today. The new third edition includes cutting edge material to produce a contemporary strategic text with a strong emphasis on new developments in management and management accounting. A wealth of thoughtful 'real life' examples guarantee that students are given a bridge from theory to applications which is reinforced by extensive end-of-chapter problems, questions and cases. This applied outcome-driven presentation ultimately forges an understanding of the relevance of concepts and helps to build the critical skills that students will need to confidently analyse and respond to situations that they will encounter in their professional careers. Widely used for one-semester undergraduate subjects, Management

Accounting: An Australian Perspective 3/E, is also ideally suited for use within MBA programs.

The theory and practice of management accounting should be seen within the context of varieties of global capitalism, to appreciate its role as a 'calculative technology of capitalism' which is practiced on factory floors, corporate boards, computer networks, spreadsheets, and so forth. This new textbook is the first to introduce the field from a rounded social science perspective. Strategizing Management Accounting offers a theoretical discussion on management accounting's strategic orientation by accommodating two interrelated lines of analyses, from historical and contemporary perspectives. The book illustrates how 'new management accounting' has evolved into the form in which it exists today in its neoliberal context and how those new management accounting practices have become manifestos for the managers, as calculative technologies of decision making, performance management, control, corporate governance, as well as global governance, and development within various forms of organizations across the globe. Each chapter draws on Foucauldian analysis of biopolitics explaining how neoliberal market logic informs a set of strategies and mechanisms through which various social entities and discourses are made governable by considering them as biopolitical entities of global governance.

Written by two recognized accounting experts, this book is vital reading for all students of management accounting and will also be a useful supplementary resource for those wanting to understand and research accounting's vital role in contemporary society.

One of the most important challenges that people in senior management positions face is the responsibility of ensuring their organizations' effective practice of performance management. As this book reveals, performance management comprises an interdisciplinary field of study and practice that draws upon a wide set of business disciplines, including strategic management, organizational behaviour, organizational theory, and management accounting. This book provides a contemporary examination of theories, issues, and practices related to performance management. An original performance management framework helps structure the book, and in particular the ordering and layout of the book's chapters. Unlike other performance management frameworks, the one used here is grounded in concrete organizational phenomena, therefore making it more accessible and meaningful to practitioners, scholars, and students.
