When it comes to disease, who beats the odds — and why? When it comes to spontaneous healing, skepticism abounds. Doctors are taught that “miraculous” recoveries are flukes, and as a result they don’t study those cases or take them into account when treating patients. Enter Dr. Jeff Rediger, who has spent over 15 years studying spontaneous healing, pioneering the use of scientific tools to investigate recoveries from incurable illnesses. Dr. Rediger’s research has taken him from America’s top hospitals to healing centers around the world—and along the way he’s uncovered insights into why some people beat the odds. In Cured, Dr. Rediger digs down to the root causes of illness, showing how to create an environment that sets the stage for healing. He reveals the patterns behind healing and lays out the physical and mental principles associated with recovery: first, we need to physically heal our diet and our immune systems. Next, we need to mentally heal our stress response and our identities. Through rigorous research, Dr. Rediger shows that much of our physical reality is created in our minds. Our perception changes our experience, even to the point of changing our physical bodies—and thus the healing of our identity may be our greatest tool to recovery. Ultimately, miracles only contradict what we know of nature at this point in time. Cured leads the way in explaining the science behind these miracles, and provides a first-of-its-kind guidebook to both healing and preventing disease.

The book is based on a therapy used by more than 170 Soviet and Russian medical doctors. According to their clinical observations and hundreds of Western studies, low body oxygenation is the key factor that promotes cancer. These observations resulted in a unique clinical trial on cancer patients organized by one of the Ukrainian physicians who applied the Buteyko method on 120 people with metastatic cancer. The book "Doctors Who Cure Cancer" provides detailed analysis of the method since this is the most successful clinical trial in the whole history of cancer research. The tested cancer therapy was based on breathing retraining or teaching patients who to breathe in accordance with medical norms days and nights. Here are some details of this trial. Early metastatic cancers are deadly, but even these cancers can be cured For early stages of metastasis, the typical 3- or 5-year survival rate is usually about 70-80%. In this astonishing published clinical trial, the survival rate in the control group was about 76%. But 96% of people in the main group, which practiced breathing exercises (to increase body oxygenation), in addition to standard medical therapies, survived. Therefore, this self-oxygenation technique naturally reduced mortality almost 6 times! There were only 2 people in the experimental group who died, but both had serious additional health problems (heart disease and diabetes). But all those who had only cancer survived. This can be the most powerful natural cancer cure used by doctors. Can we cure cancer naturally? The trial was published in Ukrainian Oncology Journal (Kiev). This self-oxygenation method has been used by more than 160 Soviet and Russian medical doctors on over 200,000 patients, many of whom had cancers. Prior to this clinical trial, these Soviet and Russian MDs tested hundreds of people with cancers and found that all of them had heavy breathing pattern with low results for the DIY body oxygen test. These doctors discovered that dynamic of cancer (stalemate, metastasis or regression of tumors) depends on breathing patterns and body oxygenation. They developed a program for cancer treatment that is based on simple breathing exercises and lifestyle changes. Breathing parameters in people with cancer Several Western studies (described in this book) measured minute ventilation, respiratory frequency and end-tidal CO2 in people with cancer. All these medical publications found that virtually each and every person with cancer: breathed about 2 times more air per minute than the medical norm had very low exhaled CO2 content (about 2 times less for people with metastasis) had increased respiratory rate at rest (up to 30-40 breaths/min instead of normal 10-12 breaths/minute). This is called "hyperventilation" or breathing more than the medical norm. Overbreathing, according to hundreds of clinical studies, reduces O2 levels in body cells. Review of other breathing therapies for treatment of cancer Apart from the Buteyko breathing method used by more than 150 doctors, this book reviews other self-oxygenation techniques and breathing exercises that increase body oxygenation. The book suggests that people can cure cancer naturally if they normalize their automatic breathing and achieve about 40 seconds for the simple DIY body oxygen test.

Some people suffer from chronic, debilitating disorders for which no conventional treatment brings relief. Can marijuana ease their symptoms? Would it be breaking the law to turn to marijuana as a medication? There are few sources of objective, scientifically sound advice for people in this situation. Most books about marijuana and medicine attempt to promote the views of advocates or opponents. To fill the gap between these extremes, authors Alison Mack and Janet Joy have extracted critical findings from a recent Institute of Medicine study on this important issue, interpreting them for a general audience. Marijuana As Medicine? provides patients--as well as the people who care for them--with a foundation for making decisions about their own health care. This empowering volume examines several key points, including: Whether marijuana can relieve a variety of symptoms, including pain, muscle spasticity, nausea, and appetite loss. The dangers of smoking marijuana, as well as the effects of its active chemical components on the immune system and on psychological health. The potential use of marijuana-based medications on symptoms of AIDS, cancer, multiple sclerosis, and several other specific disorders, in comparison with existing treatments. Marijuana As Medicine? introduces readers to the active compounds in marijuana. These include the principal ingredient in Marinol, a legal medication. The authors also discuss the prospects for developing other drugs derived from marijuana's active ingredients. In addition to providing an up-to-date review of the science behind the medical marijuana debate, Mack and Joy also answer common questions about the legal status of marijuana, explaining the conflict between state and federal law regarding its medical use. Intended primarily as an aid to patients and caregivers, this book objectively presents critical information so that it can be used to make responsible health care decisions. Marijuana As Medicine? will also be a valuable resource for policymakers, health care providers, patient counselors, medical faculty and students--in short, anyone who wants to learn more about this important issue.

Where is the science of cure? Modern medicine has specialists in hundreds of fields. Publishes journals with the latest research in neurology, cardiology, urology, hematology, and many more. It studies and publishes more general journals regarding family medicine, emergency medicine, rehabilitation and more. There are medical researchers and journals for infectious diseases, mental diseases, physical disabilities, nutritional diseases, and many more. Textbooks and reference books in each field, provide historical information and latest research findings for use by students, practitioners and researchers. Medical research studies treatments. What medical journal covers the latest research into cures? What are the authoritative medical books about cure, that also document the history of cure? There are books claiming to cure every disease. But none have medical authority. There are books claiming to cure specific diseases. Those too have no medical authority. Cured is not defined. All claims of cures and cured are considered to be quack cures. Maybe cures are there, hidden in the current journals? No. Cured is medically defined, and can be tested, for some infectious diseases. Cured is not defined for non-infectious diseases. There is no medical test of cured for any non-infectious disease. Not one. Anyone who claims to cure, to have cured, or to have been cured of Alzheimer's, arthritis, bronchitis, cancer, Chron's, depression, diabetes, epilepsy, fibromyalgia, gout, heart disease, hypertension, inflammatory bowel disease, kidney disease, and many, many more, is considered a quack. Cured cannot be tested, much less proven. Most doctors in these fields refuse to use the word cure - and advise their administrative, and nursing staff to do the same. Cured is not defined for chonic diseases, not defined for mental condition. There is no test of cured for any disease cured by health. There is no cure for the common cold. It's not because we never cure a common cold. No medicine can cure the common cold, so cured is not recognized. If you have cured your common cold, influenza, measles or mumps with health, no cure can be proven, even when cured is obvious. We have thousands of fundraising projects claiming to "search for the cure" for many diseases. Few research studies contain a testable definition of cured. If the researchers encounter a cure, it is outside of the parameters of the study, not acknowledged or counted. There are no statistics for cured in any field of medicine. Officially, nobody studies cures. Can we cure cancer? Can we tell when a cancer is cured? Cancer is a horribly complex disease, a collection of diseases defined by a single statement "an uncontrolled growth of cells". Every individual case of a cancer is different. Every patient is different, living in a unique community, consuming a unique diet which changes over time, participating in unique activities. The concept of cure is also complex. A case of cancer might be simple, consisting of a single tumor, easily removed, or of a cancer that has metastasized, spreading throughout tissues and organs. A single case of cancer can cause physical damage to specific tissues or body parts or it can spread so far that it disables an organ or bodily function. How can we cure, and know that any case of cancer is cured? How can we be certain that any non-infectious disease has been cured? Today, there is no definition of cured. We simply cannot. It's time to define cured for every disease. The first steps are not difficult. As we progress, it will get more complex. Let's begin. An illness is cured when the cause has been successfully addressed. An illness is cured when healing has completed. An illness is cured when no more medicines are required. Thus, we begin a study of cure, cures, curing, and cured. This book, "Cure", is the start of our journey. Let's create a science of cure.to your health, tracy

How to Treat Cancer with Natural Remedies, Using Dr. Sebi Alkaline Diet Method and Approach Terry Cooksey

Cancer can now be cured, not only the early stages, but also advanced cancer, stages four and five, including imminent death. We are not accustomed to thinking about a cure. We think of remission as the only possibility. But this book is not about remission. It is about a cure. This is possible because the true cause of cancer has been found. The cause of the malignancy is explained in the earlier book, "The Cure For All Cancers" (1890035009, £14.50). But removing the malignancy left behind the tumours as they were, prior to the malignant development. So, eliminating tumours became the focus of additional research, and is the subject of this book. The 21 Day Program described in this book does both. Once you win this battle, even advanced cancer can be cured. The success rate for advanced cancer is about 95%. So you can count on this method, not merely hope it will work for you. It is a total approach that not only shrinks tumours, but also normalises your blood chemistry, lowers your cancer markers, and returns your health. The small failure rate (5%) is due to clinical emergencies that beset the advanced cancer sufferer. However, if you combine the advice in this book with access to hospital care, even 'hopeless' patients can gain the time necessary to become well again.
